

Fund's Objective: Finex's Navigator Futures Fund UCITS IV was created to achieve significant medium to long-term capital appreciation through investment in Exchange Traded Futures. The fund provides a highly liquid opportunity with low volatility and no correlation to traditional asset classes.

Investment Strategy The fund delivers uncorrelated returns first by design and second by asset allocation. The fund specialises in the application of completely distinct Technical Analysis methods to cover all market conditions. Each of our three Portfolio Managers is specialised in designing independent profitable models in trend following, mean reverting and pattern testing respectively. Navigators' strategy combines these models to create a robust method that tries to be involved in any identifiable pattern. More so these conditions or patterns can occur several times consecutively or simultaneously. Our strategy creates a global portfolio of fixed income, currency and equity indices.

Month Commentary

Bond markets continued their downward slide in May as investors are taking serious steps to price in a US interest rate hike later this year. US Equity markets could not find direction and were extremely range bound during the month which proved well for our Pattern based models and helped Navigator to outperform during the month, beating main benchmarks such as Barclay Hedge CTA Index, (.22%), UCITS Alternative Index CTA (-.44%), AH Managed Futures UCITS Index (-.10%) Finex's Navigator UCITS IV fund was chosen as the Best Risk Adjusted Returns fund at the Alternative Investment Awards 2015. Finex LLP as an Investment Manager won the award for Best Futures and Options Portfolios.

Correlation to Asset Classes

Finex LLP, is a UK FCA regulated Asset Manager specialised in Multi-Asset futures and option portfolios. The three partners, Andrew Gebhardt, Marcello Bugnoli and Michael Carney created Finex LLP in 2010.

Andrew J. S. Gebhardt – Managing Partner

Andrew left the comfort of Civil and Nautical Engineering to trade on the LIFFE floor (Open Outcry) in 1995. By 2004 he started working with Marcello Bugnoli on the implementation of Futures trading systems based on Technical Analysis. From then on till the creation of Finex in 2010 the models were traded by a number of Tier 1 institutions and today form a key constituent of the UCITS fund portfolio.

Michael (Reg) Carney – Investment Manager

After a 14yr long institutional career trading for Funds and Banks Mike started trading his own money in 2000. By 2005 he had proved the success of his strategies and created his own fund by raising capital privately. In 2012 he joined Finex, after having worked with Andrew in the late 90s. Mike's models are structurally diverse from the other Fund's models and balance the portfolio beautifully.

Marcello Bugnoli – Investment Manager

With a background in Aeronautics and Meteorology, Marcello took his experience and entered the financial markets in 2004. He worked closely with Andrew continuously developing totally diverse models in various asset classes. Marcello was instrumental in the implementation of the automated models and remains a crucial element in the continual development of the long term stability of the fund.
